

Near Harnden Tavern Seek to relocate Health Center

The historic Lot One, of the Land of Nod, dating back to the early Colonial days of Massachusetts, may soon become the site of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington. Lot One is known to the people of the area as the site of the historic Harnden Tavern.

Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn, which is to develop and operate the Regional Health Center in Wilmington, has filed with the Wilmington Board of Appeals to have a 24 acre site in North Wilmington, on route 62 and 93 approved for a variance to allow use as an ambulatory care center and related medical services. The property is located next to the Harnden Tavern. It represents an ideal piece of land for the Health Center's immediate and long range needs, and provides the architect the opportunity to blend the facility into the natural surroundings.

The site originally proposed for the Health Center was property owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. Melvin Woodside, located on Lowell Street (route 129) near route 93. Early last fall a number of alternative sites for the Health Center were explored.

Approximately ten or eleven locations in Wilmington were investigated, and the advantages and disadvantages of each site was discussed, considered, and compared.

While the Woodside property had been set aside for the Health Center, it was felt that the other sites should also be explored, to assure the trustees of Choate Hospital would be on the best site possible.

The Woodside site is nicely located on route 129. It is easily accessible from Reading and Wilmington. The property is small and of irregular shape, and has a stream running through the middle. The stream can be relocated to the front of the property, as was originally proposed, but it was felt that development costs would be high and future growth options rather limited. For that reason it was felt that a larger and dryer site, in a more central location to the primary service population would best serve the interests of the Health Center and the public, in the years ahead.

Efforts last fall to select an alternative site were unsuccessful. The hospital therefore resubmitted a Certificate of Need application for the Health Center, to the Massachusetts Department of Health, with an option on the Woodside property.

Since then the owner of the property on Route 62 became interested in selling to the hospital, for the future Health Center.

This larger site is easily accessible from North Reading and Wilmington, as well as Tewksbury, Andover and Reading. The hospital Board of Trustees felt that the site should be explored in greater detail, and officials from the Department of Public Health, and the Health Planning Council for Greater Boston were contacted, for their preliminary views.

Encouraged by their initial reaction to the desirability of a site change, the hospital has moved ahead to seek proper zoning for the new location.

If approval is granted, the Certificate of Need application for the Health Center will have to be amended. This should not be a major problem other than to delay the review process by approximately two months.

It is hoped that the Department of Public Health approval for the project will be as early as next June. Choate Hospital will then proceed with its planning to construct and operate the Health Center.

The Easter Sunrise

WILLIAM MERRILL: Singing The Holy City, on Easter Morning

It was a calm, breathless, cloudless morning, Easter Sunday, ideal for Easter Sunrise Services. About 350 to 400 persons were in the grandstand, at the football field, behind Wilmington High School at 6 a.m.

Perhaps the outstanding event of a nice program was the solo by William Merrill, baritone. Mr. Merrill has been in the Congregational Church choir for some years, and there are many who are acquainted with his voice. Sunday morning, singing The Holy City, Mr. Merrill outdid himself. He was accompanied on the organ by Walter Bahia.

The music was by the Baptist Church choir, Robert Gedney director. The participating clergymen were the Rev. George Taylor, the Rev. Richard Evans and the Rev. Robert Reed.

Private construction Falcon Road area?

FALCON ROAD AREA CONSTRUCTION: Five men, talking with the Selectmen, Monday night.

Nearest the camera is John Arnetta, then Dan Conwell, Fred Russo, Frank Antizak and Dave Korenberg.

Some of the homeowners of the Falcon Road area, a street near the Tewksbury line propose to do their own street resurfacing.

The area is one of those on which homes were built and sold in recent years, during a period of time in which state judgements and laws had relaxed the Wilmington building code. The streets are good in dry weather.

A Betterment Construction of the streets, proposed in the annual Town Meeting in 1973 was turned down by the owners as being too expensive. Five of the men were at the selectmen's meeting Monday, to discuss their own idea - hire someone to resurface the street to a depth of two inches. It could be done, they figured, for about $10,000. What they wanted from the town was any help that they could get.

The only help the selectmen could give was to allow the Town Engineer to show them where the proposed bounds were. The Town Engineer had surveyed the streets, and prepared the specifications for the proposed betterment construction.

The town could contribute no gravel, nor other help, the residents were told. Most of the discussion was by James Banda, who is an attorney. The town has no right to spend tax money on private projects, he said. To the protest that they were taxpayers too, he had but one answer - the street was private.

He warned, too, that there could be trouble. If anyone of the land owners wanted to protest it, it would mean difficulties.

The proposed land bounds, which were laid out by the Town Engineer, included land which would have been taken by the Town, by eminent domain, Banda said. The group would not be able to use those bounds, unless there was permission from those who owned the land.

The Dump Problem

The dump problem, in Wilmington, is one that worries only a few persons. Less than five per cent of the voters. Many of that less than five per cent view the problem harshly. It can almost be said that they are prejudiced.

There are those who would blame the operator of the present dump. Mr. Spinazola has been giving Wilmington the town dump that the town was willing to pay for, and in a few respects it is a dump that is superior to those of adjacent communities.

It is not the world's best. Neither is it, by any means, the world's worst. It does not meet the new regulations, but it has been well kept by dump standards of other communities.

As a guess one can say that Wilmington has disposed of 10 thousand tons of rubbish yearly, for a sum of $60,000. That works out at $6 a ton. That is probably the lowest cost of any community nearby, other than Billerica, which has to be seen to be believed.

There is a charge of $14 a ton, to use the dump in Saugus, and every vehicle is weighed before and after leaving rubbish. There is a charge of $7 in Amesbury, which is probably the lowest in Massachusetts. Add to those figures the cost of trucking and the distance involved, and it will be far higher than the cost that Wilmington has been paying.

The chances are that a transfer station or other facility will cost twice or more than twice the cost of the present dump.

With the present facility there are many who throw trash outside the gates, on a Sunday or holiday. Of course, if there is municipal collection this might not happen - but the chances are still there.

The chances are that there will be less space available, for people who bring household trash to the dump in their own vehicles.

There is a case to be made for rehabilitating the present dump. There are some who view the spending of money on a private dump as a horrible thing, but the town would probably save hundreds of thousands of dollars, over just a few years, if it were to do so.

The citation, incidentally, is not against Mr. Spinazola, but against the Town of Wilmington.

Move Over, Ralph

Concord Bridge will never be the same. The Colonials of yesteryear have given way to a new and possibly sturdier breed of Minutemen. The farmers of whom Ralph Waldo Emerson sang have been replaced by the Colonial Gentry - at least such is the case in Wilmington.

Minutemen and their ladies, suitably garbed in colonial costume, were a part of the group that observed the Easter Sunrise, at the football field Sunday morning. The ladies did their part nobly.

Some of the Minutemen were more than noble. Those were not the simple country farmers, ready to drop the plow and grab the musket - not they!

Willis Whalen, for instance. Private

Willis Whalen, he who will have the rank of Brevet Major, this summer, when he leads the March to Philadelphia. Willis, it must be reported, appeared for those Easter services with his lady on his arm, and a velvet blue cloak on his back.

It must be admitted that the cloak handsomely set off his mustach of gray.

Jeff Coville, of Powder House Circle. He appeared in a suit of burgundy wine. The cuffs and shirt had lace so fine. He was missing a peruke, and he did not carry a snuff box, for what ever that is worth.

Dave Hill, the last Captain of the Wilmington Minutemen. Ah - Dave! His weskit was of blue, emblazoned and embroidered.

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
With weskit emblazoned, Dave Hill stood
Brocaded and embroidered, and brown wig well curled.
That was the word passed round the world.

Wilmington Growth Policy Committee

On December 22, 1975, Governor Dukakis signed the Massachusetts Growth Policy Development Act into Law. This legislation was principally the result of a two-year effort by the Wetmore/McKinnon Commission (more formally, the Special Commission on the Effects of Growth Patterns on the Quality of Life in the Commonwealth), working in cooperation with the Office of State Planning.

The principal vehicle for carrying out this process is the establishment of Local Growth Policy Committees in each of the cities, and towns of the Commonwealth. Each Local Growth Policy Committee is given the following responsibilities:

To respond to a "Questionnaire" distributed by the Office of State Planning which, when completed, will serve as the community's local growth policy statement.

To hold hearings in the process of developing that statement.

To review and comment on the statements and "reports" developed by other participants of the act.

As desired, to propose revisions to local bylaws or ordinances in order to promote the objectives of the local growth policy statement. The Wilmington committee has been meeting regularly since the first of February reviewing the questionnaire, copies of which are available in the library and the town clerk's office of the town hall. A public hearing will be held in the first part of May. Public participation is desired.

Chairman of the committee is Bill Hooper. Other members are George Hooper, Ray McNamara, Arnold "Red" Carlson of Avco, Ann Gillis, Madelyn McKie, Barbara Sullivan, Lynn Passmore, Mike Kulig, Marion Boylen, Fred Jackson and Elizabeth Anderson (8-2700).

Bits & Pieces

Winner take a tenth

There was, a drawing, at a local Lions Club dance, Saturday evening. Ten men, most of them local, won on one ticket, which they had purchased between them.

Each received $750 for his ten dollar share of the ticket. The ticket cost $100, and pays off with $7500. Many of the winners were with the Commercial Bank & Trust, in one capacity or another.

Acupuncture

Some months ago the Town Crier carried a story about Fred Cain, auto dealer and state representative, and how he was being cured of various afflictions by Acupuncture, administered by a Chinese doctor. Since then there have been stories of Mr. Cain and Acupuncture in other publications.

Now there is a Legislative Commission on Acupuncture, recently appointed in the House of Representatives.

Can the reader guess who was appointed Vice Chairman?

George O'Connell on road to recovery

It has been a long time since November 3rd when George O'Connell was injured, in an accident in Tewksbury. He was in the back seat of a car which was in collision with a truck, near Shawsheen Street. All four persons went to St. Joseph's Hospital, in Lowell.

George was suffering from a broken neck, seven broken ribs, and an undetermined back injury. He remained, in a near paralyzed condition, in St. Joseph's until December 8, when he was transferred to the New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Woburn.

Twenty-nine years old, the Wilmington police officer has just been discharged from the New England Rehabilitation Hospital. He is on the road to full recovery.

George had been a policeman since 1974. He was top in his class of 40 at the Northern Middlesex Police Academy, and was high shooter, in the pistol course. He wanted to be a policeman because he felt it was a meaningful job, where he could help people. The job of being a policeman, he feels, is today a professional one, in which people and police can cooperate for the good of all.

When he entered the rehab facility on December 8 he was on a stretcher. He was unable to walk or to sit up. He suffered from occasional memory loss.

He was determined to get back on his feet, and he met with an equally determined rehabilitation team headed by a lady named Gerry Tremonte, RN. Gerry works with Lynn Tasso, physical therapist, and Gail Moore, occupational therapist.

They got him out of the traditional Johnnie, and into regular work clothes. That did a lot for George.

They were an aggressive team. Gently, but forcibly, the applied therapy to build up strength and endurance. They soon had George in a wheel chair, and they they got him to stand up - using one leg. Their persistence was remarkable. The nurses and aides were an important part of a team which got George O'Connell back to normal again.

George is a graduate of Wilmington High School, and is married to the former Doris Abramovitch, also of Wilmington. There are two sons, Shawn, nine and Jason four. Before becoming a policeman he was employed at RCA, Burlington for six years.

He is a member of the Tewksbury-Wilmington Lodge of Elks, and of the Wilmington Congregational Church.

ON HIS FEET: George O'Connell, Wilmington policeman, is on his feet again, and on the road to full recovery.

He is shown with Gerry Tremont, RN, one of the ladies in the rehabilitation team which brought him to the road to recovery. The young man is Jason, who looks proudly up at his father.

Next Wednesday*Career night for high and intermediate students

An unusual opportunity is being provided for students (in grades seven through 12), their parents and teachers on April 28, commencing at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. After a short explanation of the evening's activities, the program - featuring 34 career clusters and over 100 panelists will get underway.

Recognizing the need and importance of careful career planning for every teen-aged boy and girl, a committee representing the public schools, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis and Rotary has selected 34 career clusters to be presented at the Career Night Open House. The choices were made on the basis of occupational forecasts for the next decade in the Greater Boston area.

For most young men and women it is wiser to select a "career cluster" or "family of related jobs and professions" as a long range goal rather than a very specific job or profession. For example, the "Health" cluster could include such job titles as: physician, dentist, nurse, optometrist, veterinarian, laboratory assistant, dental assistant, inhalation therapist, medical assistant, nurse aide, dental technician, L.P.N., radiologic technician, surgical technician, dental hygienist, etc.

As there are at least 25,000 job titles, it is not at all surprising that most people "stumble" into their particular jobs. To help young people cope with this bewildering problem, over 100 experts ranging from company president to workmen will serve as panelists. They will represent the professions, business, industry and labor.

In each area the panel members will give information as to job opportunities, how to prepare for specific career clusters, what it's really like on the job, opportunities for advancement and the rewards.

At the end of each panel's presentation there will be an opportunity to ask questions. The evening's program has been scheduled to permit visitation to three different panels. There is also a special panel on job-finding with hints on how to apply, how to interview, how to prepare a resume and so on. Also, in the cafeteria, where coffee will be served, seven career education films will be presented.

The career panels will include: Accounting, Agriculture, Architecture, Armed Forces, Automotive, Aviation, Banking and Investments, Communications, Computer Science, Construction Trades, Cosmetology.

Education, Engineering, Fashion and Modeling, Foreign Language in Careers, Government, Health, Insurance, Law, Management, Medical, Music, Optometry, Public Protective Service.

Radio-TV Sales and Service, Real Estate, Research, Sales, Secretarial, Service Trades, Social Work, Trades: Apprentices Program, Transportation and a Special Panel on Job-Finding.

Though aimed primarily at secondary school students and their families, all interested citizens are invited. The date: April 28; Time: 7:30 p.m.; Place: Wilmington High School.

Manager to call for bids shortly

Wilmington's Town Manager and other officials were told, last week in the Attorney General's office, that there will be an extension of time before the town will be required to close down on dump operations. The extra time has been allowed because of the efforts being made, and the money appropriated in the Town Meeting. TM Morris believes he has until June 30 to arrive at a solution. He has been preparing specifications, and there will probably be a call for bids, in a few days.

Mr. Morris has said that he is leaving the door open for several options, in disposing of Wilmington's rubbish. Contractors can bid on having a private dump on an approved site, on having a transfer station, or on trucking rubbish out of town.

Another specification that will be in the proposals will be for door to door collection of rubbish, in Wilmington.

We'll give you $10.00 to start your home improvement project plus the money to finish it.

Now's the time to start changing your house into the home you've always wanted. Whether that means simply sprucing up, adding a room or two, or building a swimming pool, Commercial Bank would like to help.

We'll help you start your project by giving you a $10.00 gift certificate which can be redeemed for merchandise at participating home improvement centers. Then, we'll loan you the money you need, from $500 to $10,000 for the materials and labor necessary to complete the job. And finally, we'll give you up to 10 years to repay which will help you enjoy your "new" home after it's finished.

So, stop in at one of our offices in Wilmington, North Reading or Burlington and get your project underway. You'll find we give a lot for your business, like $10.00 to help you get started.

Sullivan hurls Wildcats to win

Mammoth Chelmsford Lion with three for four and stole a pair of bases while Brian O'Neil singled and stole a base that would lead to the initial Lion run. Joff Hoffman rounded out the winning attack with a triple.

April 15....

The 220 pound Baraldi struck out nine Wildcats to spoil a solid pitching performance by Wildcat chucker Chris DeLuca. DeLuca allowed just seven Lion hits while striking out six.

The Wildcat hitting attack was led by Steve Woods, Al Caira and DeLuca with a single apiece.

Chelmsford got solid performances from the people who they expected would lead them at the start of the spring. Billy Amirault

Monday, April 19....

The Wildcats broke through for their first win of the season as transfer student Charlie Sullivan and Chris DeLuca came through with top pitching efforts in leading WHS to a 3-1 win over Austin Prep. The pair combined for a seven hitter as Sullivan worked the first six innings to strike out six Cougars.

Ted Coppinger was the losing pitcher as the Wildcats ripped him for eight hits while striking out five.

Oakdale players

The Oakdale Liquors team of the Tewksbury Softball League is looking for players to round out their 1976 summer roster. Oakdale is a second year club coming off an initial season in which they did surprisingly well, finishing with a 7-14 league mark.

The team has a new manager and a few veteran players returning, but the need is great for some solid players to lead the club in its second season of play.

Players must be over 18 years of age and Tewksbury residents. If interested contact the Town Crier Sports Editor, Ricky Cooke at the Crier (658-2346) Wednesday between 4 and 6 p.m. or call 667-2329 anytime and leave your name and phone number. The team currently features some top notch athletes in pitcher-first baseman Gary Jenkins and outfielder Joe Stagnone.

Girls star

The University of Lowell sent a girls track team to the University of Mass. relays last weekend and Sue Wall came through with a school record of 1:07.4 in the 440.

Debbie Geary finished fifth in the mile run in another ULowell record time of 5:44. Nancy Ford was a fourth place finisher in the high jump with a leap of 4 feet 10 inches.

ULowell dumps Assumption

ULowell, displaying raw power, ripped past Assumption 16-10 in a game played Thursday, April 15.

Bob Steward, Steve Comeau, and Nick Karangioze pounded home runs in the Worcester tilt. Winning pitcher Tipper Durkins went 62/3 innings before giving way to relief pitcher Comeau.

The Chiefs exploded for nine runs in the fourth inning to put the game away.

M&S Mobile captures town league title

Former Tewksbury High School stars Steve Catalano, Gene Manley, and Barry Sheehan led the M&S Mobile club of the Tewksbury Town League to the seasonal championship as M&S nipped the scrappy Mai Tai club 69-63 in a game played Thursday night, April 15.

Catalano's whirling drives, Manley's ball handling, and Sheehan's arching pop shots helped to bury Mai Tai who had previously beaten M&S twice during the regular season.

Mai Tai got off to a solid start behind the shooting of Ron Magee and the aggressive defense of Bunny Ahern. The Mai Tai jumped to a 10-4 lead following a Bunny steal and a Buzz Couillard offensive rebound.

The lead was stretched to 12-4 after a whirling Doug Beecy bank shot but from here on the M&S defense tightened behind the scrappy Manley. Mai Tai began missing easy opportunities and the lead dwindled to 14-10 before a beautiful Manley to Brian Irwin to Catalano pass made it 14-12 after one period.

Mai Tai's defense pressured Manley into some long bombs as Catalano and Sheehan combined to give M&S a 17-16 second period lead.

Doug Ahern heated up for Mai Tai late in the period while his brother Bunny was taking a seat due to foul trouble. Mai Tai center Dave Haskell also picked up his third foul late in the period as Mike Zabawa and Irwin were combining to keep "too tall" off the backboards.

Magee came alive after missing two free throws to pop home four points as Mai Tai still trailed 37-35 with time running out in the first half.

Another Manley top of the key jumper took the air out of the Mai Tai sailes as M&S went into the halftime break with a 32-29 lead. Sheehan and Catalano paced the attack at this point with six points apiece while Doug Ahern was leading Mai Tai with four points.

M&S Mobile worked steadily to build a lead in the third stanza. Sharp Manley passes together with sluggish Mai Tai defense highlighted the tense action. A nice D. Ahern to B. Ahern pick and role edged Mai Tai closer late in the period, but time and energy were running out on the trailing boys in yellow. Catalano hit a layup at the close of the quarter after a bad D. Ahern pass as M&S held to a solid five point lead. Manley was pacing the leaders with seven points and high-pitched inspirational screams.

The final quarter began at a slow pace, but it picked up once Haskell and D. Ahern began asserting themselves inside. Doub blocked a Sheehan shot and a Sheehan foul gave Beecy a pair of free throws that led the contest. From that point it was a physical battle royal as George Patterson came off the bench briefly to knock heads with Haskell inside.

D. Ahern's hot shooting kept Mai Tai close, but Bunny fouled out and Doug missed a running layup to ice it for M&S. Two free throws by Zabawa and a Manley layup finished off the weary Mai Tai club that collapsed under the constant offensive pressure presented by Catalano, Sheehan, and Manley.

Marathon ultimate in pure sports competition

By Rick Cooke
Men, women, oldsters and more youthful participants ran in another Patriots Day Marathon in Boston.

They don't get paid and the winner receives only a wreath and top newspaper coverage. The runners don't all run to win however. Most run just for the sake of participating in what has to be termed the one event left in sports that can be classified as "pure sports" competition.

You don't have to have super athletic ability to run this race - the runner must have strong, durable legs and a strong competitive urge that goes along with the mental capacity to block out the pain of running a 26 mile course in the grueling heat of 1976.

This was the hottest marathon ever. As the runners struggled onward they were doused with water by onlookers respectful of the competition and glad that they were on the sidelines.

A 27 year old from Arlington, Virginia won the race as others came apart on heartbreak hill. Jack Fultz had survived as the others faltered, but finished.

Eighteen hundred and ninety-eight runners gave chase in Monday's race. The number of entries makes the marathon a great sports happening.

Two entries symbolized the "pure sports" aspect of this race. Kim Merritt, a 20-year-old college junior from the University of Wisconsin-Parkside was the first woman to finish in a truly amazing time of 2:47:10. At the end Merritt's pulse beat was so low that she was rushed to the hospital for treatment for exhaustion. Compound blisters covered her feet, yet she could still smile. She had competed with men and had run many of them into the hard surface. Some years ago women were banned from the marathon - Merritt's performance once again proves how ridiculous that rule was. Denying anyone the right to compete in this race takes away from the "pure sports" point.

The other heart-warming aspect of this race was seeing 68-year-old John A. Kelley finishing his 45th marathon. John ran the route in 3:28. Truly amazing in that it points out that no American should be out of shape if he is willing to work at it.

I may seem to be harping on this point of pure-sports and "competing," but I still hear the cry of the high school sports fan who is upset because his team or son playing for a team hasn't emerged a "winner."

Take a look at the marathon results - many runners finished and they weren't all "winners." The sports fan "becomes the sports nut" when he places winning above all else. That attitude continues to disgust and depress this writer.

Players needed for "Alumni Bowl"

Former Tewksbury and Wilmington High School football players who played between 1967-74 are being sought to fill out the rosters for the "Alumni Bowl" game to be played at Tewksbury's Center School field June 5. The game is being played for a house-building fund for retiring TMHS Coach and Athletic Director Charles Hazel.

All players will be fully insured and Tewksbury High will be providing all the necessary equipment. All those interested in playing should contact Bob Aylward at 851-2878 or clip the coupon in this week's Crier and mail it to the Sports Editor Ricky Cooke, Parliament Park, North Billerica, Mass. 01872.

Bantam Champs

The Tewksbury Bantam A hockey club swept to victory this past week as the Redmen bombed Reading 8 - 1; knocked off Cambridge 5 - 3; and nipped Fitchburg 4 - 3 in the opening round of the annual Skate 3 Invitational Tournament.

The Cambridge win was a great comeback for the Redmen as they trailed 3 - 2 with just over two minutes to play. Bob Dascoli, Joe Jutras picked up the key scores for the comebacking crew from Tewksbury. Other scores were by Gary Richmond, Andy DeVita, and Eddie Breen.

Assists were registered by Billy Andella, Joe Carr, Tommy Hill, Scott Isabelle, and Bobby Doughty. Andella led the charge in the tourney win over Fitchburg as he broke a tie with just 39 seconds to play in the contest. Bill picked up a pair of goals with Jutras, DeVita getting the other lamplighters. The 8 - 1 slaughter of Reading was the easiest win with the highlight of the game being the play of Breen who came up with the hat trick to lead the Redmen to the win.

Ulowell runners

Harry Riley set a school record in the 440 yard dash as the University of Lowell's track team put on a fine showing at the University of Massachusetts relays held last weekend.

Riley finished with a time of 47.7 to give him a second place finish in the event. Joe Antowiak set another record when he cleared 14 feet in the pole vault.

Billy Haskell was fourth in the hammer toss with a throw of 167 feet six inches. Ulowell did well as a team also, as their relay team placed second in the distance medley with a time of 9:56.7 finishing behind the Greater Boston Trail Club...

Salute to Broadway on ice, this weekend

The Wilmington Figure Skating Club's 1976 ice show "Our Salute to Broadway" will be presented at the Youth Ice Arena on Friday, April 23, Saturday, April 24 and Sunday, April 25.

In addition to approximately 150 local skaters who will appear in this year's production, the club is very fortunate to have as its special guest performer, Mahlon

Bradley, the 1976 Eastern Senior Men's Champion.

The Sunday performance has been sold out, but tickets are still available for Friday and Saturday nights and may be reserved by calling Virginia Rice at 658-6688.

Tickets not picked up by 7 p.m. on Friday and Saturday will be sold at the door.

The Northwest Metro Health Council

The Northwest Metro Health Council was established to provide a wide variety of health planning and evaluation and to review activities, such as "certification of need" applications filed for or by health facilities which seek to establish new health services, or to expand existing services; to make recommendations for modernization, construction or conversion of health facilities; and to participate in special studies representing the entire greater Boston area, in such things as mental health, primary health care and long term care.

The Northwest Council is a new and recent organization. Twenty-seven residents of the area have been elected to the council, from communities ranging from Somerville to Acton, and to Wilmington.

Representing Wilmington are Diana C. Imbimbo, 103 Middlesex Avenue and Elizabeth D. Woods of Cottage Street.

An open letter to the people of Wilmington:

Recent events in the city of Boston have brought to our attention once again that it is in many ways a polarized, hate-filled world in which we live. We, the clergy of Wilmington, deplore the senseless violence that has taken place. Even more importantly, we deplore the spiritual and moral decay, showing itself in such forms as bitter racial prejudice, that threatens to destroy the free society in which we live.

As Christian priests and ministers, and as fellow citizens of the town of Wilmington, we urge each one of you to examine his own heart to see if those same seeds of spiritual and moral decay are anywhere present. Boston's problems do not belong to that great city alone. Unless we look at ourselves openly and honestly, and begin to face our problems directly with the help of God, the town of Wilmington could well end up much worse, spiritually and morally, than the city of Boston is right now.

Let us pray for the city of Boston. Just as importantly, let us pray for ourselves, our leaders, and our young people. This year could very well mark a spiritual turning point, for good or for evil, for our nation as a whole. Let us begin together, right here in the town of Wilmington, by our prayers and by our actions, to ensure a better tomorrow for all people.

"If my people who are called by my name humble themselves, and pray and seek my face, and turn

Diabetic tests next Sunday

Diabetes, the third leading cause of deaths in the United States, is now the second leading cause of new cases of blindness, according to the Wilmington Board of Health.

It is also a major cause of heart attacks, strokes, high blood pressure, gangrene and kidney failure.

Two out of three persons who suffer stroke are known diabetics, the Board of Health has reported. The chances of developing diabetes is doubling, with each decade of life. Those most likely to get it are children of diabetics, relatives of diabetics, and persons who are over 40 and overweight.

The Board of Health will have a blood testing machine, at the Diabetic Clinic, Sunday, in the High School. For a $1 fee any person can have a quite accurate test of himself, with reference to a possible diabetic condition.

The Board of Health stresses that breakfast, Sunday morning, for those who plan to take the test, should be:

One cup orange juice; one cup cornflakes or oatmeal; one cup milk; one tablespoon sugar; two slices of toast; one tablespoon jelly and coffee or tea, without caffeine.

Those who plan to take the test should adhere to the diet, but in any case the Board of Health will welcome anyone who wants to take the test.

The clinic will be from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

There will also be a Glaucoma testing clinic, for which no special preparation is needed.

It was Paula Revere who warned the town

The Wilmington Minutemen marched, April 19th at the hour of 2:20 a.m. - 10 minutes before their scheduled marching time. Eleven Minutemen, including the Honorary Member from Connecticut, Private Cindy Frier, marched the 15 miles to Concord, to face the British troops at Meriam's Corner.

Minutemen who made the march included Privates Dave Hill, Vernon Coville, Willis Whalen, Robert Sweet, George Dahl, David Blackburn, Peter Wicks, Robert Higgins and Robert McKinnon. For Higgins and McKinnon it was the first time.

George Garvey, now a Water Bearer, and now a resident of Nashua, New Hampshire, also marched the distance.

Instead of mustering on the Common at 12:00, the Minutemen mustered at the home of Capt. Coolberth, on Church Street, where a hearty morning breakfast was served, including a hearty serving of home baked beans, Colonial style, prepared by Hazey Meyer of Pilling Road.

There were about 100 spectators on hand, at 2 a.m. on the Common including Minutemen Leo Stygles of Woburn, who provided illumination with an old fashioned candle holder, and Ronald Wollinger of Lexington who played the part of the Rev. Isaac Morrill.

There was a big bass drum, manned by Gerald Robbins, and a marching drum, Colonial, manned by Frank Curley, Jr. It was to be the cadence of the drums that the Minutemen marched, until they reached Burlington Avenue.

It must be remarked that there were fewer beer bottles in evidence, in the year 1976.

The alarm was carried by Paula Revere, who seems to have been named for the job by Rudy Carrasco, alias Rudy One Pin.

Paula is a well known Wilmington horsewoman, Chris Emery of Chestnut Street. Paula was worrying about possible contact between her horse and some convivial spectator, as she rode down from the Congregational Church - but there was none. She reported to Capt. Coolberth that General Gage, and 1500 Regulars were on the march, and she presented an almost military appearance as she did so, garbed in white shirtwaist and white trousers of a military cut.

There were 12 more persons, names unknown. Three girls and nine boys bicycled alongside the Minutemen, as they marched to Meriam's Corner - all the 15 miles.

They bicycled to music, as they left - the bell of the Congregational Church, and the chimes of the Baptist Church.

Rudy One Pin

Rudy Carrasco is a disabled veteran. He lives on Adams Street in Wilmington. His first name is Fructuoso, a name which is probably Spanish in origin. Hardly anyone calls him by his first name. Now no one needs to call him by his last name either.

Rudy is one of the members of the veterans organizations who were appointed to the Wilmington Bicentennial Commission as the result of a change in the thinking of the Wilmington Selectmen, sometime last year. He became the chairman, and his talents are beginning to show. Rudy is a busy man as chairman.

As a disabled veteran it can be expected that he would be a member of the American Legion, the Disabled American Veterans, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and that he would wear the pins of those three organizations.

As a member of the Wilmington Bicentennial Commission Rudy became the public distributor of more pins - Liberty Bells, the American Flag, and the various insignia of this year of the 200th Anniversary of the United States. Rudy not only distributed them - he wore them too, on the lapel of his coat.

A few weeks ago was Student Government Day, in Wilmington, an annual event sponsored by the League of Women Voters. Rudy and the other persons of the Wilmington Bicentennial Commission took the student members of the Bicentennial Commission to Concord, where the Wilmington Minutemen fought on April 19, 1775. The annual celebration of April 19 is known, in Wilmington, as Concord Day - not Patriot's Day, not Lexington Day. Every one knows where the Wilmington men went on that day.

There was more to the trip than seeing the Rude Bridge that Arched the Flood, and Meriam's Corner, where the Wilmington Minutemen fought.

At Concord the Wilmington group encountered a group of young ladies from Orleans, France: They were on a vacation tour to the United States, and there was an instant rapport between the two groups. It is doubtful if anyone in the Wilmington group could speak French. Possibly some of the French students could speak English. Anyway, it was a case of Long Lost Friends suddenly meeting again.

Those French girls received souvenirs of that meeting, too. Pins - American Legion - DAV - Liberty Bell, etc., etc. One for each of the young ladies.

They all came from the lapel of Rudy's coat, and it wasn't Rudy who was doing the giving.

Rudy has since then managed to put a set of crossed American Flags on the lapel of his coat. He now has one pin on his coat - and that is how he is being called - Rudy One Pin.
